Expoquimia was an imperative meeting point for those who want to innovate, perfect and discover greater opportunities to increase their knowledge. It was a unique opportunity for finding out about the advances in this dynamic sector and also the latest news.

This fair has a strong personality which identifies market trends and draws them together. It is more than just future and knowledge; it is Research, Development and Innovation (R+D+I)

Flexiplas focused its participation in the presentation of their most technical products, pipes and hoses mainly designed for the Petrochemical Industry as well as for the General Industry.
